What do I need to submit?

A complete Personal Project has 3 elements:

1. The project itself (Product)
2. The written statement
3. The process journal

The Product is the main element of the Personal Project and is the product you create. The form is dependent upon the Area of Interaction that you choose. If the product is not something that may be submitted, such as a community service project or performance (a play or musical concert), you should take pictures documenting the entire process.

The Process journal should document the thought process during the creation of the project. Write about the choices you made and an evaluation of why you made them. You should NOT wait until the end of the project to write your journal.

The Reflection Paper is a structured piece of writing that begins by explaining the goals of your project, describes the focused area of interaction, and outlines how you plan to accomplish the goal. Next, you will describe the work process on the project, analyze the product choice, and research that guided you work, and point out the findings you made through creating the product.

Personal Project Phases

Phase 1: Topic Selection and Goal Setting
Phase 2: Research
Phase 3: Reflection and Product Development
Phase 4: Presentation and Evaluation